Presidential Ponderings

Hi again everyone,

It never ceases to amaze me how some months when I sit down to write this page it just flows, and I have no trouble at all filling the page with some almost sensible ideas. This month, however I have been staring at the empty page for the past few days with still no idea what I will be writing about. As yet I have not received a nasty call from our editor, but I feel it won't be long.

Bev upon seeing me rocking in the corner suggested that I write about how we have just got the brakes redone on Rex, our 107E. This has come about because we will next week be going on a week's rally with the NARC club to celebrate their 50th year as a club.

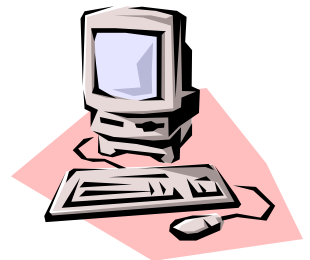

For a while now I have been meaning to look at the brakes on Rex, not because of any particular problem but just because I haven't checked them since we bought the car and I felt that maybe they could be better. Normally this is something I would do myself but we have been very busy most weekends lately so I thought I would give Rex to a local mechanic to do to save myself a job.

When I delivered Rex to him, I told him when we were going away and arranged with Yesterford to supply him with any parts he needed. Within a couple of days, he let me know that the front wheel cylinders had been leaking and we would also need new front brake shoes. These were promptly supplied by Mike at Yesterford, and I assumed I would get a call to come and pick Rex up. A few weeks later and only two weeks before the rally I was speaking to our mechanic and asked him how things were progressing. He informed me that the job had been finalised, but he was having problems bleeding the brakes. I then realised that without much experience with older cars he hadn't worked out that on Prefects the easiest way to bleed the brakes is to remove and invert the backing plate on the front hubs, re-install the drums, bleed the brakes and then put everything back on the right way when you have a good pedal.

This job is now done and the brakes are working fine, even if not much better than before all the work. Now it is time to load Rex ready for our rally with NARC.

Finally, a quick reminder, entries for the All Ford Day are open on-line, so if you can make it along it would be good because we need to keep increasing our numbers so that we are not forgotten by the organisers. We need to be seen and support the day.

Happy Fording

Editorial

Well another month & another Magazine to be put together, I am hoping that you are all enjoying what has been put together, but please remember that it is your Club and that means that it is your Magazine so I would like to think that maybe we can get a few people to put pen to paper (or fingers to keyboards) to write a few words about what they are up to or what got them interested in our Small Fords or even their life history, anything no matter how insignificant it may seem will always be interesting to others. I can only think of so much, if there is anything that you think may be a good topic for the magazine let me know & we can see if more information can be obtained.

Going forward I would like to introduce a segment each month of members old photo's to see if we can identify who they may be, if you have any old pics please either send them to me by email or give them to me at a meeting. I have started this month with one on page 16 , see if you can guess who it is (answer next month).

As you will have seen last month that a young lady by the name of Sandy has started to tell a story about her health problems & what her custodian is doing about them, this month she has again sent in some words but I think is having a bit of a go at said custodian, I may have to ban her from any further inclusions in the magazine if this keeps happening.

Past Members Run 2024

In memory of our beloved members that have left us.

This year we remembered the lives of

Dave Jackson 2016

Bill Urry 2017

Ray Edwards 2019

Marilyn Cowley 2022

Our Past members Run saw us meet at Café de Vilis on Main North Road for a cuppa and a chat. As Jim and I were the first to arrive we set up a table for 12 as we were unsure how many people would be arriving. We soon realised that we would need more tables and chairs as members kept arriving. When we left at 10:30am we had a contingent of 22 members and friends ready to depart.

We knew that we were headed to Tanunda, but which route would we take? David Urry had organised for us to take a scenic route through the northern suburbs. We took in the suburbs of Pooraka, Mawson Lakes, Parafield Gardens, Penfield, Edinburgh, Eyre, Davoren Park, Munno Para and finally to Gawler after many roundabouts and off the main road.

Our first stop was at Gawler Information Centre for a toilet stop and a regroup. It appeared that everyone had arrived except for Sylvia and Phil. David received a call asking us where we were as they were at the Information Centre waiting for us. When David advised them that they weren't at the Gawler Information Centre a back-and-forth discussion was held trying to work out where they were. It was decided for us to head off to our lunch stop as Sylvia was driving her new sat nav and they had a copy of the run instructions.

Upon our arrival at Tanunda Club, we found Phil and Sylvia waiting for us. It appears that they had stopped at the Barossa Valley Information Centre at Tanunda. None of us could work out how they got there, not even Phil & Sylvia, but they got to our lunch stop first.

David had booked the President's Room for us to enjoy our lunch. We were joined by David's son David Jnr and his family.

I believe that everyone had a fantastic meal and enjoyed our get together giving us all a chance to reminisce about some of our past members.

We left about 3pm and headed back to Adelaide to drop the Prefect off at her garage. On the way back we encountered the wind and rain that had threatened all day.

Thanks to David and Maralyn for arranging the day, the run and the venue.

The Ongoing Operation Saga

By Sandy Prefect

Hi again,

Just a quick note on my ongoing surgeries, my heart (engine) is back in one piece & along with my gearbox have both been painted in original green, & awaiting the completion of the surrounding engine bay & underbody cleanup & repaint, this seems to be taking longer than first thought as my Doctor (see custodian David) has been neglecting me due to other things he sees as more important than getting me back to full running order. It seems that Poppy the Anglia is getting to go out more often now, but we will see what happens when I am well again.

Monthly Funny

2 Red Indians and an Irishman were walking through the woods. All of a sudden one of the Red Indians ran up a hill to the mouth of a small cave. “Wooooo! Wooooo! Wooooo!” he called into the cave and listened closely until he heard an answering, “Wooooo! Wooooo! Wooooo! He then tore off his clothes and ran into the cave.

The Irishman was puzzled and asked the remaining Indian what it was all about, “Was the other Indian crazy or what?”

The Indian replied “No, It is our custom during mating season when Indian men see cave, they holler ‘Wooooo! Wooooo! Wooooo!’ into the opening. If they get an answer back, it means there’s a beautiful squaw in there waiting for us.”

Just then they came upon another cave. The second Indian ran up to the cave, stopped, and hollered, “Wooooo! Wooooo! Wooooo!’ Immediately, there was the answer. “Wooooo! Wooooo! Wooooo!” from deep inside.

He also tore off his clothes and ran into the opening.

The Irishman wandered around in the woods alone for a while, and then spied a third large cave. As he looked in amazement at the size of the huge opening, he was thinking, “Hoo, man! Look at the size of this cave! It is bigger than those the Indians found.

There must be some really big, fine women in this cave!” He stood in front of the opening and hollered with all his might ‘Wooooo! Wooooo! Wooooo!’ Like the others, he then heard an answering call, ‘Wooooo! Wooooo! Wooooo!’

With a gleam in his eye and a smile on his face, he raced into the cave, tearing off his clothes as he ran. The following day, the headline of the local newspaper read

In the Kitchen

Eccles Cakes

Taken from Favourite Lancashire Recipes.

8 oz. puff pastry

2 oz. butter, melted

6 oz. currants

1 teaspoon mixed spice

1 oz. soft brown sugar

Milk or a little lightly beaten egg white

A little granulated sugar

Set oven to 450 F or Mark 8. Roll out the pastry thinly on a lightly floured surface and cut into 4-inch rounds. Mix together the butter, currants, spice and sugar and place generous spoonful's in the centre of each round. Dampen the edge of the pastry, draw up into the centre, like a parcel to enclose the filling and seal well. Turn over and flatten very lightly with a rolling pin. With a knife, make 3 'slashes' across the top of each cake, brush with milk or egg white and sprinkle with sugar. Place on a greased baking sheet and bake for 15 minutes or until golden. Serve warm. Makes about 8.

These little cakes are believed to date back to medieval days, and they were originally served at religious festivals — the three 'slashes' being said to represent the Holy Trinity.

Barb's Handy Hints

To prevent blisters from forming on your feet when you do a lot of walking, rub your feet with methylated spirits daily for a week before-hand.

Radio/torch batteries and the like can be given a new lease of life when rundown by placing them in a warm oven for about an hour.

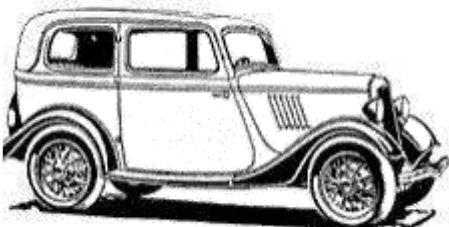

Store blankets etc. in plastic bags with a cake of perfumed soap and when they are unpacked again they will be fresh and sweet smelling.

To dry wet shoes and help keep their shape, stuff them repeatedly with dry newspaper as this will absorb the moisture.

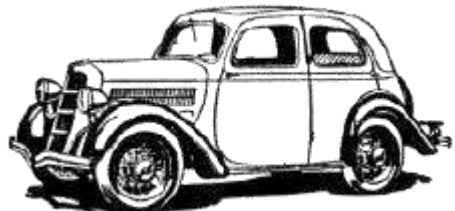

To clean gardeners hands, pour a small amount of sugar and olive oil onto your hands, rub them together then rinse thoroughly.
